ABOUT MIDS

Malcolm S. Adiseshiah and Elizabeth Adiseshiah founded the Madras Institute of Development Studies (MIDS) in 1971 shortly after Malcolm Adiseshiah's retirement as Deputy Director-General of UNESCO. In 1977, MIDS was reconstituted as a National Institute jointly funded by the Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR), New Delhi and the Government of Tamil Nadu (GoTN). In 1985, the Reserve Bank of India established a Chair in applied research in regional economics at MIDS.

The faculty at MIDS pursue diverse research interests, from the concerns of development economics, such as agriculture, rural development, industry, urbanisation, and labour, to interdisciplinary areas, such as gender, environment and climate change, human development, social and political movements, and social criticism.

Through its seminars and workshops, MIDS has become a centre for critical thinking on development issues. State and central government departments, autonomous agencies, universities and colleges, and non-governmental and international organisations frequently seek the expertise of MIDS faculty members.
